Introduction

Data from the surveys and studies conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS) are presented in a variety of publications. Many of the reports are part of the Vital and Health Statistics series. Other Center data are published in Advance Data From Vital and Health Statistics, a publication series begun in 1976 as the means for early release of selected findings from Center surveys. Many Advance Data reports are followed by detailed publications in the Vital and Health Statistics series. The Center also issues periodicals such as the Monthly Vital Statistics Report. Center data are presented in special publications as well; they are identified in this catalog as “Other publications of the National Center for Health Statistics.”

How to use this catalog

This catalog is divided into three parts. Part I presents a listing of Center reports from 1990 through 1996. (Publications issued by NCHS prior to 1990 are listed in Catalog of Publications of the National Center for Health Statistics, 1962–1979, PHS 80–1301, and Catalog of Publications, 1980–89, PHS 90–1301, which can be obtained free of charge from the Data Dissemination Branch of NCHS, Division of Data Services at the address listed on page 2.)

Part II of the catalog is a listing of articles by NCHS staff appearing in professional and scientific publications during 1996. This listing is included to provide a convenient reference to articles that may supplement the information released in NCHS publications. To review the articles or obtain copies, users should refer directly to the publication cited.

Part III of the catalog is an index of selected health topics covered in Center reports. It includes topics and variables related to the health status of the population and covers the characteristics of health facilities and occupations. The index is not exhaustive, but it treats in detail those topics and variables most frequently requested by users of Center data.

Where and how to obtain publications

NCHS publications on the Internet

NCHS has a home page on the World Wide Web. A connection to the Internet and a Web client or browser is required for access. The Uniform Resource Locator (URL) address is

<http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm>

The NCHS home page contains .pdf (Adobe Acrobat) files of NCHS publications that may be viewed, searched, printed, and downloaded. Titles and ordering information are listed for all Center published reports. Files containing the reports (.pdf) are included for most reports except for the annual Vital Statistics of the United States volumes. The most recent publications are also listed under “What’s New.” Software and installation directions needed to read and print the .pdf files are located on the home page.

Government Printing Office (GPO)

GPO stock numbers and prices are shown for all sale publications. To order these reports individually or to establish a standing order for one or more series, contact

Superintendent of Documents
U.S. Government Printing Office
Washington, DC 20402-9325
(202) 512–1800

National Technical Information Service (NTIS)

Reports from the Center that cannot be purchased from GPO may be available at NTIS. NTIS order numbers and price codes for paper copies (PC) and microfiche (MF) are given for most of these reports. (1997 price schedules are included in the back of this catalog.)

Free publications

The Monthly Vital Statistics Report, Advance Data From Vital and Health Statistics, and other periodicals—as well as catalogs and listings—are free to all users. While supplies last, single copies of older series and major miscellaneous reports not available from GPO or NTIS are also available free of charge.

NCHS limits the free distribution of paper copies of certain Center publications—Vital Statistics of the United States, Vital and Health Statistics series, and most miscellaneous reports—to libraries and other selected institutions.

The mailing list

The Center maintains a number of mailing lists for distribution of its reports. Free publications and the mailing list form can be obtained from the address below.

Additional information

Data collected by the Center are available in the form of public-use data tapes and additionally may be available in unpublished tabulations. Diskettes and CD-ROMs are also being issued. Questions about the availability of Center data, both published and unpublished, may be addressed to the following:

Data Dissemination Branch
Division of Data Services

Reports From the National Medical Care Utilization and Expenditure Survey

The National Medical Care Utilization and Expenditure Survey (NMCUES) was conducted in 1980 and early 1981. Data were collected on health, access to and use of medical services, associated charges and sources of payment, and health insurance coverage for the civilian noninstitutionalized population. Reports from the survey are being published by the National Center for Health Statistics and by the Health Care Financing Administration.

Index to Health Topics

The listing under each topic includes NCHS publications with data on the topic. Although not mentioned in the index, Health, United States, the comprehensive annual report to Congress from the Center, presents data on most of the topics indexed. Most of the publications that are indexed present data by sex, age, and race. Many reports include additional sociodemographic variables.
